

The image below illustrates the general path of igneous rock evolution represented on Bowen's Reaction Series. Two fractionations are illustrated, with the general shifts in composition of the resulting rocks shown as specific groups of minerals in each reaction series.

